SUMMARY OF ACTION

1. The Plaintiffs are involved in the sport of Figure Skating
2. When they became involved with this sport, they were simply embracing their love of the sport.
3. At some point in time, they were pursuing this sport at a skating rink in Irmo, South Carolina (XYZ Skating Rink, Inc. - sued in an anonymous capacity).
4. While at this skating rink in Irmo, they met a coach by the name of John Roe.
5. John Roe (sued in an anonymous capacity), a former Olympian, began giving lessons to the Plaintiffs as an employee of the skating rink.
6. John Roe was certified as a skating coach by a national body(ABC Skating Federation, Inc, - sued in an anonymous capacity) who was supposed to monitor activities of certified coaches as well as provide guidelines for the safety of skating participants.

7. Many of the participants in figure skating are under the age of (eighteen) or young adults.

8. One of the two plaintiffs was under the age of eighteen (18) at all times interacting with Skating Coach Roe.

9. During his time as a coach, Roe groomed, touched, and acted inappropriately with both Plaintiffs.

10. All defendants in this matter were complicit in allowing the perpetration of the grooming, exploitation, harassment, and abuse (hereinafter, collectively, "sexual misconduct") of Plaintiffs in this case.

11. Sexual Misconduct is a comprehensive term that includes grooming, exploitation, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, rape, and sexual malfeasance.

12. Based on the forgoing, Plaintiffs were both victims of sexual misconduct.

13. Plaintiffs have suffered immeasurable losses and will likely have to undergo psychiatric/psychological care for the remainder of their lives.

14. Defendants ABC and XYZ acted in dereliction of their duties as Skating rink owner and Figure skating national governing body by failing to adequately monitor and police against such harm as perpetrated by Roe

PARTIES

Plaintiffs

15. Plaintiff Jane Doe #1 is over the age of Eighteen (18) and is a citizen and resident of Lexington County, South Carolina.

16. Plaintiff Jane Doe #2 is over the age of eighteen (18) but was a minor at all times involving Defendants and sexual misconduct by Roe. She is a citizen and resident of Lexington County, South Carolina..

17. Plaintiffs are filing this action anonymously under the pseudonyms Jane Doe #1 and Jane Doe #2 (collectively, "Does") because the subject matter of this lawsuit could bring embarrassment and publicity to the Plaintiffs and/or their family.

18. Plaintiffs are both uniquely vulnerable to the mental or physical harms of disclosure of their identity.

19. Plaintiffs risk humiliation and embarrassment due to the necessary publication of intimate materials and allowing them to proceed with pseudonyms brings comfort.

20. If the ability to proceed with pseudonyms is not allowed, Plaintiffs will experience further harm as a result of exercising their legal rights.

21. If Plaintiffs are forced to disclose their identities, that disclosure will amplify the injuries that are at issue in this litigation.

22. The public interest in the disclosure of Plaintiffs' identities is minuscule.

23. There will be no furtherance of justice by requiring the public disclosure of Plaintiffs' identities.

24. Once the Defendants are served and retain counsel, Plaintiffs' identities will be revealed to Defendants in a confidential manner, if not already known.

25. Defendants are not prejudiced by allowing Plaintiffs to proceed anonymously, and any potential prejudice will be mitigated by the confidential disclosure of Plaintiffs' actual identities.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS SUPPORTING THE CAUSES OF ACTION IN THIS COMPLAINT

66. ABC is the national governing body of U.S. Figure Skating.

67. As the NGB of U.S. Figure Skating, ABC has a duty to create policies and procedures, certify coaches properly, and create a culture of safety for all participants in U.S. Figure Skating.

68. NGB's are in the position to advocate and ensure safety for YSO participants because they receive money through membership and other ways.

69. The YSO is the supposed beneficiary of the NGB of its sport. If the NGB fails in its mission, it places children and young adults at risk.

70. ABC is recognized as the national governing body (NGB) for the sport of figure skating in the United States by both the United States Olympic & Paralympic Committee (USOPC) and the International Skating Union (ISU).

NATIONAL GOVERNING BODIES (“NGB”) OF YOUTH SPORTS ORGANIZATIONS

(“YSO”)

71. The recognition of an entity as a national governing body for a youth sports organization comes with certain responsibilities and authority.

72. Defendant ABC is supposed to fulfills its role in creating a safe environment for minor and young adult figure skaters in the following manner:

- a. Regulating the Sport: ABC is responsible for setting the rules and standards for figure skating in the United States. This includes the technical and performance rules for competitions.
- b. Organizing Competitions: The organization hosts national figure skating competitions, including the ABC Championships, and is responsible for selecting and sending U.S. athletes to international competitions, such as the World Championships and the Olympics.
- c. Athlete Development: ABC plays a significant role in athlete development. It identifies and nurtures young talent, provides training guidelines, and supports athletes at various levels.
- d. Coach Education and Certification: The organization is responsible for the certification and education of coaches. It ensures that coaches have the necessary skills and knowledge to train athletes effectively and safely without engaging in sexual misconduct and exploitation of participants.

- e. Promoting the Sport: As the NGB, ABC also works to promote the sport of figure skating on a national level, increasing its visibility and encouraging participation at all levels.
- f. Membership Management: The organization manages memberships for skaters, coaches, and officials. Membership often includes insurance coverage, access to competitions, and other resources.
- g. Ensuring Safe Sport: U.S. Figure Skating is responsible for ensuring that the sport is safe for all participants. This includes implementing policies and procedures to prevent and address issues such as sexual abuse and harassment, in line with the U.S. Center for SafeSport guidelines.
- h. Fundraising and Sponsorship: The organization also handles fundraising and sponsorship to support its activities, athletes, and events.

73. As the NGB of U.S. Figure Skating, XYZ has the authority to represent and make decisions for the sport of figure skating in the United States and international forums.

74. The organization's role is crucial in maintaining the standards of the sport, supporting athletes, and ensuring the safety and integrity of figure skating.

75. One of the most important (if not the most important) role of a NGB regarding a YSO is the protection of its participants.

76. Children are a vulnerable population of potential victims for predatory adults if a NGB is negligent, grossly negligent, or reckless in their actions.

77. It has been recognized for decades that youth sports provide a breeding ground for pedophiles and ebinophiles.

78. Preventing sexual misconduct and exploitation of children and young adults in YSO's is a critical responsibility of the NGB.

79. Some of the ways that a NGB can help protect children from predators in its role as the NGB of U.S. Figure Skating include:

- a. Background Checks: Conduct thorough background checks on all coaches, volunteers, and staff. This includes criminal background checks and checks against sex offender registries.
- b. Training and Education: Provide mandatory training for all coaches, volunteers, and staff on recognizing and preventing sexual abuse. This should also include educating them on appropriate boundaries and behaviors.
- c. Policies and Procedures: Develop and enforce strict policies regarding interactions between adults and athletes. This may include rules about one-on-one interactions, travel, and communication outside of practice times.
- d. Safe Sport Programs: Implement a Safe Sport program, which is designed specifically to protect athletes from abuse in sports. This includes policies, procedures, and educational components.
- e. Reporting Mechanisms: Establish clear and accessible reporting mechanisms for athletes, parents, and others to report any suspicions or incidents of abuse. Make sure there are multiple ways to report, and that the process is confidential.
- f. Responding to Reports: Have a clear plan in place for responding to reports of abuse. This should include an immediate response to ensure the safety of the child, an investigation, and involving law enforcement when necessary.
- g. Parent and Athlete Education: Educate parents and athletes about the risks of sexual abuse in sports, signs to look out for, and how to report concerns. Empower athletes to speak up.
- h. Monitoring and Supervision: Ensure that there is adequate supervision during all team activities, travel, and events. Regularly monitor interactions between coaches and athletes.
- i. Limiting One-on-One Interactions: Implement policies that limit one-on-one interactions between adults and children, such as having meetings in view of others or leaving doors open.
- j. Regular Review and Updates: Regularly review and update policies and training programs to ensure they reflect the latest best practices in child and young adult protection.

80. It's important that these measures are not just in place but are actively enforced and that the culture of the organization prioritizes the safety and wellbeing of its minor and young adult athletes.

81. Collaboration with child protection experts and law enforcement can further strengthen these efforts.

YOUTH SPORTS ORGANIZATIONS (YSO)

82. A youth sports organization is a structured entity that provides athletic activities for children and adolescents.

83. These organizations can range from local community-based clubs to larger, more competitive leagues and associations.

84. Their primary purpose is to offer organized sports to young people, typically ranging in age from about 5 to 18 years old.

85. YSO's typically offer structured sports programs in one or more sports, such as figure skating, soccer, basketball, baseball, gymnastics, swimming, track and field, and many others.

86. These programs are usually divided by age groups and skill levels.

87. Youth sports organizations focus on developing athletic skills, understanding of the sport, and physical fitness among young participants.

88. Many of these organizations arrange or participate in regular competitions, tournaments, or leagues, providing opportunities for competitive play.

89. Coaches, who may be volunteers (often parents) or paid professionals, provide training, instruction, and guidance to the young athletes.

90. Beyond athletic skills, youth sports organizations are supposed to instill values such as teamwork, fair play, respect, and discipline in young participants.

91. These organizations often serve as important community entities, bringing together children and families from various backgrounds and fostering community spirit and involvement.

92. YSO's (including XYZ) are responsible for ensuring the safety and wellbeing of the participants, which includes providing safe coaches, creating policies and procedures to protect its participants, having safe facilities, and adhering to safe sport participant protection guidelines.

93. Youth sports organizations often engage in fundraising activities to support their operations, including equipment purchases, facility rentals, and travel expenses for competition.

94. YSOs must comply with various regulations and guidelines, especially if they are affiliated with larger governing sports bodies at the state, national, or international levels.

95. Many organizations strive to be inclusive and accessible, offering opportunities for participation regardless of a child's skill level, physical ability, or socioeconomic background.

96. Youth sports organizations play a vital role in the physical, social, and emotional development of children and adolescents.

97. They provide a platform for young people to engage in physical activity, learn new skills, make friends, and develop a lifelong appreciation for sports and healthy living.

98. If a YSO fails in its mission to provide a safe place for children to interact, it can cause unfathomable harm.

99. In the case at bar, both ABC (the NGB) and XYZ (the YSO) failed Plaintiffs and created an atmosphere allowing their coach John Roe to engage in sexual misconduct and exploit them.

U.S. CENTER FOR SAFESPORT'S ROLE IN PROTECTING MINORS AND YOUNG ADULTS PARTICIPATING IN YSOs

100. The U.S. Center for SafeSport (hereinafter, "The Center") is an independent, nonprofit organization based in the United States that plays a pivotal role in ensuring the safety and well-being of athletes, particularly within the Olympic and Paralympic movements.

101. Its establishment was driven by the need to prevent and respond to incidents of abuse in sports, including sexual, physical, and emotional misconduct.

102. The Center develops and implements comprehensive training and education programs for athletes, coaches, administrators, and others involved in sports.

103. These programs focus on abuse prevention, recognizing the signs of abuse, and promoting a safe and respectful sporting environment.

104. The Center is responsible for creating policies and guidelines to safeguard athletes from abuse.

105. These policies are designed to set standards for conduct, establish safety protocols, and create a framework for reporting and responding to allegations of abuse.

106. The Center has the authority to investigate allegations of abuse within the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic sports organizations.

107. The Center can take disciplinary actions, including banning coaches or other individuals from the sport, based on the findings of particular investigations.

108. The Center provides a safe and confidential platform for athletes, coaches, and others to report incidents of abuse or misconduct.

109. The Center are supposed to ensure that these reports are handled appropriately and investigated thoroughly.

110. The Center offers support services to individuals affected by abuse in sports.

111. This support can include counseling, legal assistance, and other forms of support

112. Beyond its investigative and regulatory roles, the Center advocates for a culture change within sports organizations, promoting environments where athlete safety and well-being are paramount.

113. The Center works closely with various sports organizations, including national governing bodies, to ensure the implementation of SafeSport policies and practices across all levels of sports.

114. By fulfilling these roles, the U.S. Center for SafeSport aims to address the issues of abuse and misconduct in sports, ensuring a safer, more respectful, and inclusive environment for athletes of all ages and levels.

115. The U.S. Center for SafeSport plays a crucial role in aiding U.S. Figure Skating and Figure Skating Youth Sports Organizations (YSOs).

116. The Center offers mandatory training programs for coaches, officials, and athletes.

117. This training focuses on recognizing, reducing, and responding to signs of abuse.

118. The Center also provides educational resources for parents and athletes to create a more informed community.

119. SafeSport requires background checks for coaches, officials, and anyone who has regular contact with athletes. This is an essential step in ensuring a safe environment for athletes.

120. The Center provides a platform for reporting abuse and misconduct.

121. The Center is responsible for investigating reports of abuse within the U.S. figure skating community and has the authority to impose sanctions or take other corrective actions.

122. SafeSport is supposed to advocate for athlete safety and provides support services for victims of abuse.

123. The Center collaborates with U.S. Figure Skating to ensure compliance with safety policies.

124. The Center also monitors the implementation of child safety and athlete participant policies across all levels of the sport.

125. Beyond enforcing policies, the Center aims to foster a culture within figure skating that prioritizes athlete well-being, respect, and safety.

126. By performing these functions, the U.S. Center for SafeSport plays a pivotal role in ensuring that figure skating environments are safe and healthy for all participants, particularly young athletes

THE COLLABORATION OF U.S. CENTER FOR SAFESPORT, ABC AND XYZ

127. The Center, ABC and XYZ are supposed to be collaborative partners in ensuring the safety of minor age and young adult figure skaters.

128. The Center is a repository of information on prospective and already certified coaches.

129. If the Center receives a complaint on a coach, it supposed to investigate that coach or do something to substantiate or verify any potential complaints of harm to a participant in U.S. Figure Skating by a coach.

130. The Center is then able to work with ABC or XYZ in verifying whether a coach has received complaints.

131. If the Center has information on a coach that may be indicative of potential harm to children, it should be shared with a certifying organization (here, ABC).

132. ABC and XYZ must work with The Center in a collaborative effort to protect children and young adults.

133. ABC uses information from the Center as part of its process in certifying coaches.

134. A coach should not be certified who has received credible allegations of sexual misconduct or exploitation of a child or young adult.

135. This certification process of ABC tells the world that a particular coach has been vetted and passed a number of standards to receive a certification.

136. XYZ relies on ABC for the certification of a coach.

137. If ABC fails the certification process, or XYZ fails in the hiring (which includes working with ABC and The Center), supervising and monitoring of a predatory coach, the coach may be unleashed on an unsuspecting public that will likely result in harm to multiple children and young adults.

138. That is what happened in this case.

139. Either the Defendant ABC failed in their certification of and oversight of Roe, or XYZ failed in their hiring, supervision, monitoring and setting boundaries of the coach for the Does to have been exposed to Roe or both things occurred.

140. Even if The Center had never been notified of any issues with Roe, XYZ and ABC breached the center policies in allowing an environment which facilitated abuse of plaintiffs.

GROOMING

141. "Grooming" refers to the process used by predators to manipulate, gain trust, and establish control over their intended victims for abusive purposes, often leading to sexual abuse or exploitation.

142. This behavior is particularly concerning when it involves children or vulnerable individuals.

143. The grooming process typically involves a predator and potential victim.

144. The predator identifies a potential victim.

145. This choice may be based on the victim's perceived vulnerability, such as emotional neediness, isolation, or low self-esteem.

146. The predator establishes a relationship and gains the victim's trust.

147. This can be done through attention, affection, kindness, or by fulfilling their emotional or material needs.

148. In the case of child grooming, this could involve befriending the child's family to gain access to the child.

149. The predator identifies and exploits a need or void in the victim's life.

150. The predator might position themselves as a mentor, a protector, a benefactor, or even a romantic interest.

151. Gradually, the predator works to isolate the victim from others, such as friends and family, who might protect them or notice the abusive behavior.

152. This isolation further increases the victim's dependency on the abuser.

153. Once a degree of isolation and trust is achieved, the predator may begin to introduce sexual content or behavior into the relationship, often gradually desensitizing the victim.

154. The predator may use secrecy, blame, or even threats to keep the victim silent about the nature of the relationship.

155. This control can be psychological, emotional, and sometimes physical.

156. The final stage is the abuse or exploitation of the victim, which can be sexual, emotional, and/or physical.

157. Grooming can occur in various settings, including in-person interactions, as well as through digital means such as social media, online gaming, and messaging apps.

158. Predators can be adults or even older youths, and they may be strangers, acquaintances, or individuals in positions of authority and trust, such as coaches, teachers, or family members.

159. Understanding and recognizing the signs of grooming is crucial for the prevention of abuse.

160. Education on this topic is vital for parents, educators, and anyone who works with children or vulnerable populations, as it can help them identify and intervene in potentially abusive situations.

IMBALANCE OF POWER OF COACHES IN YSOs CAN LEAD TO ABUSE

161. An imbalance of power between coaches and athletes in Youth Sports Organizations (YSOs) can create an environment that may allow for the abuse of children and young adults, including sexual, emotional, and physical abuse.

162. This imbalance arises from the inherent authority, trust, and influence that coaches have over young athletes, and it can be exploited by those with malicious intent.

163. Coaches often hold significant authority over young athletes, including decisions about their playing time, position, and progress within the sport.

164. This authority can be misused to coerce or manipulate children or young adults into complying with inappropriate demands.

165. Children and young adults typically place a great deal of trust in coaches, viewing them as mentors, role models, and authority figures.

166. Abusive coaches can exploit this trust to create a secretive, compliant environment.

167. Youth Sports participants may depend on their coaches for their athletic success and opportunities.

168. This dependency can make them vulnerable to exploitation, as they may fear that speaking out could jeopardize their sports career or relationships.

169. Coaches have the ability to isolate athletes from their peers and family, often under the guise of special attention or private coaching.

170. This isolation can be used to prevent others from witnessing the abuse or the child from seeking help.

171. Coaches can engage in grooming behaviors, building a seemingly trusting relationship with the child and possibly the child's family, to gain their confidence and manipulate the situation to their advantage.

172. The power dynamic can allow coaches to intimidate athletes into silence, using threats of repercussions on their sports career or by manipulating their perception of what is acceptable behavior.

173. In some YSOs, there may be inadequate supervision or oversight of coaches, providing opportunities for abuse to occur without detection.

174. A culture that overly emphasizes winning and success in sports can contribute to a power imbalance, where athletes feel they must tolerate inappropriate behavior to succeed.

175. The power held by the coach can lead to underreporting of abuse.

176. YSO participants might fear not being believed, or they might not recognize the behavior as abusive due to the trust and authority invested in the coach.

177. Without proper education and training about appropriate coach-athlete boundaries and the signs of abuse, both athletes and coaches may not recognize or report abusive dynamics.

178. To combat these issues, it's crucial for YSOs to implement stringent policies, offer education on appropriate boundaries, ensure proper oversight and reporting mechanisms, and foster a culture where athletes feel safe and empowered to speak out.

JANE DOE #1'S INTERACTIONS WITH JOHN ROE

179. On Saturday January 11th, 2020, Jane Doe #1 began skating classes at Flight Adventure Park after some online inquiry.

180. From January 2020 through March 2020, Jane Doe #1 attended some skating classes and used her free public skate pass to practice ice skating.

181. John Roe was the skating director of the ice rink in Irmo where Jane Doe #1 and #2 skated on a frequent basis.

182. John Roe was present at the rink in Irmo almost every day.

183. In addition to being a former Olympian, John Roe was the most decorated and highest rated coach at XYZ.

184. During this time, Jane Doe #1 interacted with Roe a few times.

185. In March 2020-May 2020, Jane Doe #1 emailed Roe twice during this time to check on when the rink would likely reopen during Covid.

186. Over the next two years, Jane Doe #1 continued to interact with Roe.

187. He became her coach and mentor in August 2020.

188. This was AFTER this coach had already been inappropriate with a number of other athletes and children.

189. Roe should have been fired and reported to the Police and the Center before Jane Doe #1 had ever come into contact with him.

190. But for the failures of ABC and XYZ, Jane Doe #1 never even encounters Roe as a coach.

191. Roe began to groom Jane Doe #1 almost immediately upon meeting her.

192. During Jane Doe #1's lessons with Roe, he would often make statements such as "You're the best and strongest athlete I've ever had", "You're such beautiful girl", You have such perfect legs and I wish I could see them someday", "You're my favorite", "I wish I could take you home with me every day".

193. He went on for months with such comments.

194. He would suggest that Jane Doe #1 should move in with him and marry him someday.

195. He would tell Jane Doe #1 things like, “I love you”, “Don’t take any of these compliments lightly because I don’t typically say them to just anyone”, “You’re such special girl”,

196. The pressure continued and he would insist that she wear more sexy skating attires because it was a shame to have such a beautiful body and “not let the world see and know that.”

197. He accelerated his grooming of her, and continued to pressure her and began exploiting Jane Doe #1.

198. After many declinations to his invitations, Roe eventually convinced Jane Doe #1 to have meals with him at his house.

199. Things continued to escalate to more and more demands for Jane Doe #1’s time.

200. The continued pressure and exploitation included Roe’s expectations of some type of sexual interaction.

201. In January 2022 Jane Doe #1 was continuing her lessons with Roe, and she then became sick with Covid.

202. Roe would send Jane Doe #1 text messages during her absence from Covid stating that he missed her.

203. He kept bringing up how he was burning to feel her “inside.”

204. Roe said that he knew Jane Doe #1 didn’t want vaginal intercourse because she was a virgin and there were ways, he could penetrate her and still leave her a virgin.

205. Jane Doe #1 voiced her disagreement to that type of thing.

206. She made it clear that she preferred to stay away from any form of penetration.

207. At some point in time, around January 28, 2023, Roe convinced Jane Doe #1 to join him in a hotel room.

208. Once there, at some point, Roe disrobed Jane Doe #1, started kissing her and upon her reinforcing that she did not want to lose her virginity, Roe then then took advantage of the situation and against Jane Doe's wishes and consent, flipped her onto her belly and anally raped her.

JANE DOE #2'S INTERACTION WITH ROE

209. In 2017, Jane Doe #2, started going to XYZ recreationally about twice a week.

210. Jane Doe #2 was thirteen (13) years old at the time of she started going to the ice rink.

211. In 2018, Jane Doe #2 started taking lessons from Roe at the age of Fourteen (14).

212. She saw Roe every day except Sundays.

213. Jane Doe #2 spent copious amounts of time with Roe.

214. Roe used inappropriate language with Jane Doe #2 before he began to touch her.

215. Upon information and belief, Roe was using the inappropriate language to test Jane Doe #2's resistance to his inappropriate behavior.

216. He stated things to Jane Doe #2 like; "You're the prettiest girl in the world, I've never met anyone like you, you're perfect my dear, you have the best legs in the world (that one usually came with a lot of touching to prove his point), you're the most beautiful girl in this rink right now, you're so special to me, you're everything to me, I want to spend the rest of my life with you, you get more and more beautiful every single day, etc."

217. After this had gone on for about a month, he started touching Jane Doe #2 inappropriately.

218. Roe was known for his lingering side hugs where he would either start rubbing a minor's back, gripping their side, or grabbing their butt while pulling them as close to him as physically possible.

219. That was how he started initiating physical contact with Jane Doe #2 which morphed into holding her body close to his in a variety of different positions while grabbing her waist, legs, butt, or hair.

220. He would say , “You’re the sexiest girl in the world.”

221. His language and touch came along with a lot of grooming and manipulative behavior.

222. He tried to convince Jane Doe #2 for years that they were a couple and would run away some day and have a happy life together.

223. It was so effective that at some points Jane Doe #2 even thought she was in love with him even though she was only fourteen.

224. Roe also started controlling Jane Doe #2’s food intake during this time as well.

225. Roe set down rules for what Jane Doe #2 was allowed to eat and would praise her when she followed them and lost weight and would shame and belittle her if she disobeyed or didn’t look skinny enough on any given day.

226. This led to an eating disorder and body dysmorphia that Jane Doe #2 still struggle with today.

227. Roe would regularly show up to lessons intoxicated.

228. This was apparent to anyone at the rink and this should have caused someone in management at XYZ to terminate his coaching tenure at the rink.

229. When Roe was intoxicated, his face would be red, his speech would be slurred and that meant Jane Doe #2 was about to get touched a lot more than usual.

230. The effects of the abuse started to be visible in Jane Doe’s life.

231. She lost weight from his dietary restrictions which caused her to lose her monthly cycle.

232. Jane Doe #2 became reclusive and moody.

233. Roe was always careful around other adults and would completely change the way he spoke to and acted around Jane Doe #2 when there were others present.

234. In 2020, Roe started insisting that Jane Doe #2 start wearing skating dresses and catsuits to practice saying that it was needed to make sure she was used to them for competition.

235. This left Jane Doe #2 more vulnerable to Roe's wandering hands.

236. In 2021, Jane Doe #2 had a complete mental breakdown and left skating.
